Website for parking services is: HTTP://USFWEB2.USF.EDU/PARKING_SERVICES/

9. AWARD

Vendor’s proposals will be evaluated based on the requirements set forth in this Invitation to Negotiate. The University reserves the right to reject any or all proposals.

Vendors may be required to answer questions and may be required to make a presentation to the evaluation committee regarding their qualifications, experience, service, and capability to furnish the required service(s).

The award(s) shall be made by the University to the most responsive and responsible vendor whose final proposal is determined to be the most advantageous to the University taking into consideration price and other criteria as set forth in the Invitation to Negotiate.

The University’s intent is to award on an “All-or-None Total Offer” basis.

10. PROPOSAL TABULATION

Vendors desiring a copy of the proposal tabulation for the Invitation to Negotiate may request same by enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope with their proposal. Proposal tabulation will be available after award and will be posted on the Purchasing website. The proposal tabulation is an accounting of initial proposal information received relative to requested information and may not include price information. Proposal results will not be given out over the telephone.

11. THE INVITATION TO NEGOTIATE PROCESS

The ITN process is a flexible procurement process that is used when highly specialized and or variable services or products are required. Negotiations offer an opportunity for selected Vendor(s) to discuss their responses with an evaluation committee. The goal of this comprehensive process is for identification of the optimal outcome or the solution that best meets the needs of the University. Only representatives of the participating Vendors who are authorized to negotiate and make agreements shall be involved in negotiations.

12. EVALUATION CRITERIA

Evaluation will be based on criteria identified in the Section III - Specifications. Any information a Vendor deems essential to the evaluation of the services offered, for which no provision is made in the ITN, should be clearly stated in the proposal. While the University reserves the right to request additional information or clarification from Vendors at any time in the process, Vendors should not assume that they will be allowed to amplify or modify their initial written proposal. The initial response must be a clear and easy to understand explanation of the products, services, benefits and prices offered and should include information as to how all specifications will be met.

13. NEGOTIATION WITH VENDORS

To identify vendors for negotiations, submitted proposals will be evaluated, presentations may be requested, and references may be verified and reviewed. The University will compare the proposals according to the evaluation criteria described in SECTION III for the purpose of identifying vendors for negotiation. The evaluation criteria does not necessarily determine the best value for the university or the award to be made.

Vendors may be invited to continue in the negotiation process. Negotiations offer an opportunity for the selected Vendors to discuss their offers and proposals in further detail with the University. Selected vendors may be given the opportunity to refresh their initial offers. Refreshed proposals allow vendors to match or exceed the offers made by competitors, both as to services and cost. This allows the University to secure services which best meet its needs, at a highly competitive and favorable cost. At the conclusion of this negotiation process, the University may ask selected vendors to submit a written best and final offer, to memorialize all agreements reached during negotiations and to extend additional benefits to the University, if desired. Invitation to submit a best and final offer is not automatic. After this negotiation a final Vendor(s) may be selected.

14. INVITATION TO NEGOTIATE FORM

All proposals shall be submitted using the University of South Florida Invitation to Negotiate form as a cover to be considered for an award of the proposal. The form shall be completed in ink or typewritten, signed by an authorized signatory of the Vendor and returned with the proposal in a sealed envelope. Vendor is responsible for marking the outside of the sealed envelope with the proposal number and the opening date.

The Invitation to Negotiate form and all related pages are a legal document and cannot be altered by the Vendor in any way. Any alteration made by a Vendor may disqualify the proposal and the response may be considered invalid. Any necessary changes to an Invitation to Negotiate document will be implemented by written addenda to the proposal issued by Purchasing & Property Services.

15. RIGHT TO NEGOTIATE

Upon evaluation of the responses, the University has the right to enter into negotiations with one or multiple Vendors that appear to have submitted proposal(s) that best meet the needs and requirements of the University. Negotiations could include but are not limited to price and the terms and conditions of this ITN.

If for any reason a Vendor(s) and the University cannot arrive at a mutual agreement that would result in the issuance of a contract, the University reserves the right to terminate negotiations, to reject the proposal(s), and to continue negotiations with other responsive Vendors that may lead to the issuance and award of a contract.

16. VENDOR’S RESPONSIBILITY

It is understood and the Vendor hereby agrees that it shall be solely responsible for all services that it proposes, notwithstanding the detail presented in the Invitation to Negotiate.

17. VENDOR’S EXPENSE

All proposals submitted in response to the ITN must be submitted at the sole expense of the Vendor, whether or not any agreement is signed as a result of this Invitation to Negotiate. Proposers will pay all costs associated with the preparation of proposals and necessary visits to campus and other required site visits.
18. NUMBER OF PROPOSALS SUBMITTED

Vendor shall submit one (1) original proposal—clearly mark as “original” and one electronic copy preferably on a flash drive. Proposals that do not provide the requested copies may be rejected without further review.

19. PROPOSAL REJECTION

The University shall have the right to reject any or all ITN proposals and in particular to reject an ITN proposal not accompanied by data required by the Invitation to Negotiate or an ITN proposal in any way incomplete or irregular including the omission of pricing information. Conditional ITN proposals may be considered non-responsive.

20. OPEN COMPETITION

The University encourages free and open competition among vendors. Whenever possible, specifications, invitations to negotiate, and conditions are designed to accomplish this objective, consistent with the necessity to satisfy the University’s needs and the accomplishment of a sound economical operation. The Vendor’s signature on their ITN proposal guarantees that the prices quoted have been established without collusion with other Vendors and without effort to preclude the University from obtaining the lowest possible competitive price.

21. ORAL PRESENTATION

After ITN proposals have been opened, Vendors submitting ITN proposals may be requested, at the sole option of the University, to make oral presentations or provide written clarifications. Such presentations or clarifications will provide an opportunity for the Vendor to clarify the proposal. Oral presentations may be recorded. Recorded oral presentations and written clarifications will be affixed to the Vendor’s ITN proposal and become part of the same as if originally submitted.

22. MISTAKES

Vendors must check their proposals for any errors. Failure to do so will be at the Vendor’s risk.

In the event a mistake results in the written request of aVendor withdrawing any part of the proposal, the Vendor must withdraw the entire proposal package and the University will not consider that proposal for award of any of the subject ITN. This applies to all requests for withdrawal. The only exception to this policy would be a case where the mistake was the result of misinformation unknowingly supplied by the University. In this event, a waiver of policy must be approved by Purchasing whose decision shall be final.

23. RIGHT TO TERMINATE

In the event any of the provisions of the contract are violated by the successful proposer, the University may serve written notice upon Vendor of its intention to terminate the contract. Such notice will state the reason(s) for the intention to terminate the contract. If the violation does not cease and satisfactory arrangements for correction are not made within ten (10) days after the notice is served upon the Vendor, the contract shall cease and terminate. The liability of the Vendor and/or his surety for any and all such violation(s) shall not be affected by any such termination.

24. CANCELLATION

For the protection of both parties all contractual obligations shall prevail for at least 90 days after the effective date of the contract. After that period, for the protection of both parties, this contract may be cancelled, in whole or in part, by either party by giving thirty (30) days written notice to the other party.

25. FORCE MAJEURE

No default, delay or failure to perform on the part of the either party shall be considered a default, delay or failure to perform otherwise chargeable, hereunder, if such default, delay or failure to perform is due to causes beyond either party’s reasonable control including, but not limited to, strikes, lockouts or inactions of governmental authorities; epidemics; acts of terrorism; war; embargoes; fire; earthquake; acts of God; or default of common carrier. In the event of such default, delay or failure to perform, any date or times by which either party is otherwise scheduled to perform shall be extended automatically for a period of time equal in duration to the time lost by reason of the excused default, delay or failure to perform.

26. PAYMENT

The University will make partial payment in the amount of the value of items or service received and accepted by the University in response to a request by the Vendor along with the submission of a properly executed invoice, and supporting documents (if required). The University shall issue the Vendor’s payment within 40 days (35 days for healthcare providers) after receipt of an acceptable invoice and receipt, inspection, and acceptance of goods and/or services provided in accordance with the terms and conditions of the purchase order/contract. The University’s preferred payment method is P-card. No additional charges will be accepted for use of P-card payment. Any penalty or delay in payment shall be in accordance with section 55.03, Florida Statutes. The University’s vendor ombudsman, whose duties include acting as an advocate for vendors who may be experiencing problems in obtaining timely payment(s) from the University may be contacted at 813-974-2481.

27. FEID NUMBER

Vendors MUST supply their Federal Employee Identification Number or Social Security number.

28. W-9 (W-8BEN for Foreign Vendors) FORM

SECTION III: SPECIFICATIONS

Serum/Plasma Proteome Analysis of Samples Collected within the Environmental Determinants of Diabetes in the Young (TEDDY) Study

I. PURPOSE

The purpose of this Invitation to Negotiate (ITN) is to characterize the serum/plasma proteome of beta-cell autoantibody positive children followed until the clinical onset of diabetes and matched autoantibody negative non-diabetic control subjects for the TEDDY study (http://teddy.epi.usf.edu/). Investigators should assemble a team that can design and perform a proteomic study that goes from sample selection to protein biomarker discovery and validation, with the main goal of identifying markers of beta-cell autoantibody development as well as progression to type 1 diabetes (T1D). For this purpose we envision a team that will have expertise in proteomics, biomarker discovery, statistic, T1D, and that will be familiar with the samples collected within TEDDY.

You are invited to submit a proposal for analyzing the serum and/or plasma proteome of samples collected from high-risk children. The University of South Florida (USF) will issue a subcontract to a laboratory or laboratories that will analyze the serum, plasma, or both, samples collected within the TEDDY study. This solicitation is not aimed to any specific platform or proteomic technology but for the purpose of giving one example we envision that one of the possible strategies would require a discovery phase using a global proteomic approach (e.g. shotgun proteomics by 2D-liquid chromatography-mass spectrometry (LC/MS)) on a relatively small sample set, followed by a validation phase (e.g. using MS in Multiple Reaction Monitoring mode) on a larger sample set. Approaches that would enable an extensive and reproducible proteomic profiling of all samples coupled to appropriate statistical design might also be considered.

The due date for submittal of proposals is 3:00PM August 1, 2013. Offerors (the applicants) are hereby advised that any proposal received after this date will not be considered further and will be returned unopened. The award is anticipated on or about November 15, 2013.

Each offeror, by submitting a proposal, agrees that the proposal shall remain firm for a period of 120 calendar days after the proposal is due.

This ITN does not commit the University of South Florida to award a contract or to pay any costs incurred in the submission of the proposal, nor to procure or contract for any supplies or services. Any award must be approved by the National Institute for Diabetes, Digestive and Kidney Diseases (NIDDK), and is contingent on the availability of funds.

Each offeror is requested to submit a letter of intent to respond to this ITN by June 03, 2013. Letters should be sent to Michael Hernandez, Purchasing Administrator, Purchasing & Property Services, 4202 E. Fowler Ave., AOC200, Tampa, FL 33620 (Phone: 813-974-8123; Fax 813-974-5362; Email: mahernandez@admin.usf.edu).

Each offeror must submit one hard copy and electronic copy (on a flash drive) of their proposal to Purchasing & Property Services as indicated in Section II, Item 18.
II. BACKGROUND AND PLANNING

T1D is one of the most common and serious chronic diseases in children and appears to be increasing globally, particularly in the very young. The etiology of the disease remains unclear. There is a substantial genetic susceptibility to T1D. High risk HLA class II alleles appears to contribute 40-45% of genetic risk and other genes have also been identified as providing more modest contribution to risk. However, additional unidentified factors are important in the etiology of this disease.

Epidemiologic patterns suggest that viruses, nutrition, toxic agents or socioeconomic psychosocial factors may contribute to the etiology alone or in combination. Elucidation is confounded by the long interval between exposure and onset of clinical disease as well as the interaction of multiple genes, insults, or both, which appear to interact in a complex manner. Numerous studies have investigated environmental influences but have yielded conflicting results. This may be in part due to the failure to account for genetic susceptibility, begin observation at early ages or in utero, and/or monitor subjects long term and frequently. It is also important to recognize that islet autoimmunity marked by autoantibodies to islet autoantigens such as insulin, GAD65, IA-2, and ZnT8 may precede the clinical onset of diabetes by months or years.

The Environmental Determinants of Diabetes in the Young (TEDDY) study investigates genetic and genetic-environmental interactions, including gestational infection or other gestational events, childhood infections or other environmental factors after birth, in relation to the development of prediabetic islet autoimmunity and T1D. A consortium of six centers has been assembled to participate in the development and implementation of studies to identify environmental factors that trigger the development of islet autoimmunity and T1D in genetically susceptible individuals. The TEDDY study has recruited 7,749 neonates from the general population with a pre-determined T1D risk of 3% and 919 neonates with first degree relatives who have T1D and who have a pre-determined T1D risk of 10%, by age 15 years. Thus, TEDDY proposes to study a total of 8,668 participants across six clinical centers worldwide (Finland, Germany, Sweden and three in the US). The first primary outcome measure is appearance of one or more islet cell autoantibodies: GADA, IAA, or IA-2A confirmed at two consecutive visits and it is expected that approximately 800 subjects will develop autoantibodies during the entire course of the study. The second Primary Outcome is development of clinical T1D. It is expected that 400 subjects will develop T1D during childhood and adolescence. The TEDDY study has completed enrollment in 2010 and as of now over 400 subjects have developed persistent islet autoantibodies, and 117 of these subjects have developed clinical diabetes.

In recent reports T1D has been associated with significant changes in the serum/plasma proteome; however, few studies have systematically assessed the proteomic profile change associated with the disease. Using global LC-MS based proteomics analyses, Zhang Q. et al. (J Exp. Med. 2013, 210(1):191-203) identified 24 proteins that were present in serum at significantly different concentration between those with T1D and healthy controls. Zhi W. et al. using, a semi-quantitative spectral counting-based 2D-LC-MS platform found significant differences for 21 serum proteins implicated in inflammation, oxidation, metabolic regulation, and autoimmunity and were able to confirm that T1D patients have significantly higher serum levels for four of these proteins (Mol. Cell. Proteomics. 2011; 10(11):M111.012203).

However, there is little overlap between the markers that have been reported in previously published work and no specific protein has been linked with the onset of T1D or with diabetes-associated autoimmunity. TEDDY children at risk for T1D have been prospectively followed with appropriate samples at frequent intervals. This is an ideal sample set for testing the hypothesis that some of previously reported markers might be linked with the onset of the disease or with the autoimmune response in T1D. Furthermore, the samples from TEDDY could also be used for extensive proteomic profiling with the aim of identifying novel biomarkers that can be linked to the onset of the disease or with the autoimmune response in T1D.

This ITN aims to establish a laboratory that will utilize state-of-the-art proteomic technologies for sensitive and specific detection of proteins as they relate to autoimmune status as well as progression to diabetes. The TEDDY follow up schedule and blood sampling frequency and volumes are available at the web site http://teddy.epi.usf.edu/research/ (0.1 ml plasma and 0.1 ml serum per time point is available from the subjects). Details of the TEDDY protocol are available in the following articles: - The Environmental Determinants of Diabetes in the Young (TEDDY) Study. TEDDY Study Group, Ann N Y Acad Sci. 2008 Dec; 1150:1-13 and TEDDY--The Environmental Determinants of Diabetes in the Young: an observational clinical trial. Hagopian WA, Lernmark A, Rewers MJ, Simell OG, She JX, Ziegler AG, Krischer JP, Akolkar B. Ann N Y Acad Sci. 2006 Oct;1079:320-6.

There are six Clinical Centers in the TEDDY study. The samples available for investigators in this ITN are either frozen serum or plasma samples collected every three months until four years of age and bi-annually thereafter unless the child seroconverted to one or several islet autoantibodies. All samples have been stored frozen at -70 C in the NIDDK repository. The clinical centers are clinical research units staffed by a Trial Coordinator and other necessary personnel under the supervision of the Principal Investigator. The Principal Investigator works with the Data Coordinating Center (DCC), the Steering Committee and the NIDDK staff in developing and executing this ITN.

II. STATEMENT OF WORK AND REQUIREMENTS

A. Background

Proteomics is becoming a widely used technology in biomedical research and its application to many projects aimed to early disease detection, diagnosis, inform prognosis, and guided therapy are becoming more common. Although, several technologies often are comprised in the term proteomics, the most striking progress in the last decade has occurred in the mass spectrometry-based proteomic technologies. Bottom-up peptide analysis, top-down protein analysis, and targeted quantitative analysis, and the combination of various approaches make feasible the analysis of thousands of samples with unprecedented throughput and depth.

The study of the proteins and the analysis of the proteome in autoimmunity and T1D can provide important insights into disease states and facilitate in depth understanding of underlying pathways and protein networks.

Several published studies have shown that some proteins could potentially be used as surrogate markers for the detection of the disease and that other proteins can be indicative of susceptibility to develop T1D. However, these studies are still preliminary and further validation is needed. The TEDDY study has collected a unique set of serum/plasma samples for a long-term storage which should allow both global proteomic and targeted protein analysis. This ITN is soliciting for projects that would use proteomic approaches, for characterizing the serum/plasma proteome of the samples that have been collected within the TEDDY study, with the main aim of identifying markers of the autoimmune status as well as progression to T1D.

The applicant should describe in detail the rationale for the strategy proposed, which should include an appropriate number of samples from subjects that developed autoimmunity, T1D, and controls.
Project teams with appropriate interdisciplinary expertise in proteomics, statistics, biomarker discovery, T1D, and that are also knowledgeable about the TEDDY samples are encouraged to apply.

Proteomics has shown to be useful in identifying several potential biomarkers. However, these have not been extensively validated and the availability of the TEDDY samples is a unique opportunity for their validation and for the discovery of novel markers. If changes in specific proteins or protein networks can be detected in the plasma/serum proteome we can envision that they could be adapted and implemented in the clinic. Such information may, for example, offer a basis for novel diagnostic and therapeutic strategies, and/or enable improvements in the existing strategies. Various factors, such as patient heterogeneity, environmental agents, diet, toxic exposures, and drugs, may influence the state of the proteome on a transient or permanent basis. Thus investigations must take into account all these influences. There is also a need for improved analytical methods to process and interpret the vast amounts of data generated by high throughput platforms in the context of pathological conditions (e.g., diabetes). Further efforts in these directions are necessary to promote the application of these technologies in the study of pathophysiological conditions as well as for the purpose of the diagnosis, prognosis, and treatment monitoring. The ultimate goal of this ITN is to generate a comprehensive understanding of how the proteome is affected in prediabetes autoimmunity and T1D and employ such knowledge to translational research. The TEDDY study is interested in characterizing the prediabetes and T1D proteome to determine how it differs from the normal proteome. Application of this knowledge holds promise for prediabetes or T1D prediction and diagnosis and may improve therapeutic strategies.

Qualified laboratories must submit a proposal encompassing all of the analyses listed. The time period for this contract is approximately December 01, 2013 to June 30, 2017. This contract is subject to cancellation if the criteria below are not met.

B. The Proteomic Laboratories will:

1. Develop a protocol for receipt, short-term storage and preservation of samples sent from the NIDDK repository.

2. Receive specimens (with bar-coded ID labels) from the NIDDK repository. The laboratory must have a system for handling specimens with bar-coded ID labels.

3. Review/inspect samples upon receipt; report receipt and integrity of samples (e.g., missing, thawed, broken) and report any problems in handling and shipping directly to the NIDDK repository, and to the DCC using TEDDY data systems. The laboratory must work with the repository to resolve any shipping issues and discrepancies.

4. Provide the necessary freezer space for short-term storage of TEDDY samples.

5. Perform analysis of all agreed samples using the agreed proteomic strategy and platforms. The following points should be addressed in the proposal.

- The overall strategy for analyzing the TEDDY samples and identifying markers of beta-cell autoantibody development as well as progression to T1D should be described. Details on the number of samples, volumes, and replicates if feasible, should also be given.

- The samples and data should be analyzed in a way and in an order that the least possible bias is introduced (e.g. the site of collections, order of analysis of control versus samples from T1D subject, etc.). A procedure/strategy used for reducing bias should be described.

- Because of the multi-dimensionality nature of the proteomic data there is a high risk of over-fitting. This is particularly important when the approach proposed requires a discovery phase on a small number of samples and a validation in a larger sample set. A procedure/strategy used for reducing over-fitting should be described.

- In protein identification strategies that use mass spectrometric approaches a recommended False Discovery Rate (FDR) no larger than 1% at the protein level has been recommended. The procedure and software for protein identification should be briefly described.

- A strategy with proper statistical criteria should be selected and described. The inclusion of a blinded set of samples in the last validation phase is strongly recommended.

- The statistical approach for assessing and/or determining correlation with autoimmunity and progression of disease should be described.

- The present knowledge of the disease mechanism, genetic factors, and pathways and networks that are involved should be considered when interpreting the data. A strategy for taking advantage and integrating the present knowledge should be described.

- A strategy for analyzing the data in the context of all other information that is available for the TEDDY samples should be described.

6. Summarize and interpret results of the analyses for publications in accordance to TEDDY publications policies and procedures.

7. The ultimate number of samples will depend on the experiments proposed. Since this will be a cost reimbursement subcontract, laboratories must indicate a budget on a cost/sample basis. It is however expected that some component of the project will have a budget that will not significantly change with the number of samples (e.g. publications, data modeling and interpretation) and therefore might not follow the cost/sample model.

8. It is expected that all the results information be transmitted using TEDDY data systems to the TEDDY Data Coordinating Center. All information must be transmitted electronically to the DCC following set guidelines that will be outlined by the DCC. Laboratories must have e-mail communication capabilities and Internet access.

9. It is expected that the Proteomic Laboratories eventually selected will provide the necessary expertise in quality control analyses through the use of internal standards and other quality control measures as well as providing the necessary bioinformatics expertise to provide high quality and reliable information.
10. NOTES
   a. The DCC or TEDDY Laboratory Implementation Committee and Quality Assurance Committee will conduct a site visit of the Laboratory at its discretion.

   b. Costs associated with transport of samples to the Proteomics Laboratory will be paid by the DCC.

   c. Costs associated with transmitting the data to the DCC are assumed by the Laboratory.

C. Deliverables/Reporting Requirements

The following will be deliverable to the TEDDY DCC, University of South Florida:

1. All data on study specimens must be transmitted electronically to the DCC on a monthly basis, beginning January 15, 2014.

2. The selected laboratories should have SOPs in place describing the content of the work according to GLP-type format.

3. Laboratory SOPs, data books and/or computer files containing study data must be made available to the DCC or Laboratory Implementation Committee upon request.

4. Internal quality control data (for the period of specimen analysis) must be made available to the DCC or Laboratory Monitoring Committee on a quarterly basis. The Laboratory should participate in a proficiency testing program if available. The results of this proficiency program should be reported to the DCC or Laboratory Monitoring Committee.

In addition to addressing the points mentioned in part II B, each offeror should include the following items in the proposal:

   a. A brief description of the sample measurement procedures, internal quality control programs, specimen handling procedures and the minimum volume of sample needed. Note that 0.1 ml plasma and 0.1 ml serum per time point is available from the subjects. Include references where appropriate.

   b. A description of your current data management procedures and systems for sample handling and data reporting. IV. EVALUATION FACTORS

A. COMPARATIVE IMPORTANCE OF PROPOSALS
You are advised that paramount consideration shall be given to the technical proposals, but not to the exclusion of cost considerations. In the event that the technical evaluation reveals that two or more offerors are approximately equal in technical ability, then the estimated cost of performance may become paramount. In any event, the contract office for the University of South Florida reserves the right to make an award to the best advantage of the TEDDY study, cost and other factors considered.

B. GENERAL
The technical proposal will receive paramount consideration in the selection of the Contractor for this acquisition, and should, therefore, be as complete and specific as possible. The evaluation will be based on the demonstrated capabilities of the prospective Contractor(s) in relation to the needs of the project as set forth in this ITN. The merits of each proposal will be evaluated carefully, based on the thoroughness and feasibility of the technical approaches taken.
Offerors must submit information sufficient to evaluate their proposals based on the detailed criteria listed below. Failure to provide the information required to evaluate the proposal may result in the rejection of that proposal without further consideration. In addition to the used technologies the offerors should indicated the volume of plasma/serum sample which is needed for the planned analyses and how the samples will be processed.

Proposals submitted in response to this solicitation will be reviewed by a peer group of scientists. Factors to be considered in evaluating this proposal are listed below in order of relative importance, with weights assigned for evaluation purposes.

C. TECHNICAL EVALUATION CRITERIA

1. Ability to perform, in the quantity required, accurate and precise measurements and maintain consistent accuracy and precision for protein/peptide measurement listed in the Statement of Work as evidenced by:

   a) Appropriateness of the offeror's proposed analytic methods, specific experience with the methods and plans to implement them, and evidence of current precision and accuracy for analysis. (25 points)

   b) Appropriateness of the quality control procedures to be used. (20 points)

2. Facilities and organizational structure and support for the required volume and variety of analyses and tasks, including the adequacy of back-up facilities to assure the avoidance of any unnecessary delays, and the capacity for prompt electronic transmission of results. (25 points)

3. Relevant experience in multi-center studies and plans for interaction with the repository in handling of samples and for quality control. (15 points)

4. Ability to contribute to and support the scientific objectives of the study and experience and commitment to data analysis for publication. (15 points)

CERTIFICATE OF NON-SEGREGATED FACILITIES

We, certify to the University of South Florida that we do not and will not maintain or provide for our employees any segregated facilities at any of our establishments, and that we do not and will not permit our employees to perform their services at any location, under our control, where segregated facilities are maintained. We understand and agree that a breach of this certification is a violation of the Equal Opportunity clause required by Executive Order 11246 of 24 September 1965.

As used in this certification, the term "segregated facilities" means any waiting rooms, work areas, rest rooms and wash rooms, restaurants and other eating areas, time clocks, locker rooms and other storage or dressing areas, parking lots, drinking fountains, recreation or entertainment areas, transportation and housing facilities provided for employees which are segregated by explicit directive or are in fact segregated on the basis of race, creed, color or national origin, because of habit, local custom or otherwise.

We, further, agree that (except where we have obtained identical certifications from proposed subcontractors for specific time periods) we will obtain identical certifications from proposed subcontractors prior to the award of subcontracts exceeding $10,000 which are not exempt from the provisions of the Equal Opportunity clause; that we will retain such certification in our files; and that we will forward the following notice to such proposed subcontractors (except where the proposed subcontractors have submitted identical certifications for specific time periods):

NOTE TO PROSPECTIVE SUBCONTRACTORS OR REQUIREMENTS FOR CERTIFICATIONS OF NON-SEGREGATED FACILITIES. A Certificate of Non-segregated Facilities, as required by the 9 May 2067 order on Elimination of Segregated Facilities, by the Secretary of Labor (32 Fed. Reg. 7439, 19 May 2067), must be submitted prior to the award of a sub-contract exceeding $10,000 which is not exempt from the provisions of the Equal Opportunity clause. The certification may be submitted either for each sub-contract or for all subcontracts during a period (i.e. quarterly, semiannually, or annually).
